BEST CABINET ORGANS AT LOWEST PRICES.

That the MASON & HAMLIN CABINET and METRIPOLITAN ORGANS are the best in the world is proved by the almost unanimous opinion of professional musicians, by the award to them of Seventy-Five Gold and Silver Medals or other highest premiums, at principal industrial competitions within a few years, including the Medal at the Paris Exposition, and by a sale very much greater than that of any similar instruments.—This Company manufacture first-class instruments, and will not make "cheap organs" at any price, or suffer an inferior instrument to bear their name. Having greatly increased their facilities for manufacture, by the introduction of new machinery and otherwise, they are now making Better Organs than ever before, at increased economy in cost, in accordance with their fixed policy of selling always at least remunerative profit, they are now offering at Prices of Inferior Work. Four Octave Organs, Plain Walnut Case, $50. Five Octave Organs, Double Reed, Solid Walnut Case, carved and paneled, with Five Stops (Viola, Diapason, Melodia, Flute, Tremulant), $125. Other styles in proportion.

Circulars, with full particulars, including accurate drawings of the different styles of organs, and much information which will be of service to every purchaser of an organ, will be sent free, and postage paid, to any one desiring them.

For One Copy for One Year..... 1 50

THE WEEKLY SUN will renew its best efforts as a first-class News and Literary Journal. Every improvement of modern journalism—by which it is distinguished—will be maintained, and such attention be given to its several departments as will insure their continued interest, and whatever may be necessary to render them more complete will not be lost sight of.

Through no other medium can families and individuals in the towns and villages and rural districts of the country be so well supplied with proper literature, and a full knowledge of the world's whole news, from week to week.

MAKE UP CLUBS.

While the WEEKLY SUN is afforded at the low rate of $1 50 per annum to single subscribers, the CLUB rates are still lower, carrying the price down as low as one dollar per year where twenty-five copies or more are taken at one post office at a time, viz:

Club of Six Copies, One Year..... $8 00
Club of Twelve Copies, One Year..... 15 00

WHY MRS. HERBERT LOVED MASONRY.

"Ticket, ma'am," said the conductor.

"Yes, sir, in one moment;" and Mrs. Herbert sought in her pocket for her portmonnaie, in which she had deposited the article in question. But it had mysteriously disapeared; and the lady rose hastily, and cast a rappid searching glance under and about her seat.

"O, sir, I have lost my ticket, and not only that, my money and my checks for my baggage!"

The conductor was a young man who had been but a few weeks upon the road in his present capacity; and he felt himself greatly elevated in his new position. He prided himself in his ability to detect any person in an attempt to avoid paying the regular fare, and he earnestly wished that an opportunity might offer, which would enable him to prove his superior powers of penetration, and the ease with which he could detect imposition. Here, then, was a case just suited to his mind; and he watched Mrs. Herbert with a cold scrutinizing eye, while she was searching so eagerly for the missing ticket. With still extended hand, he said, "I must have your fare, madam."

"But, sir, I have no money; I cannot pay you."

"How far do you wish to go?" he asked.

"I am on my way to Boston, where I reside. I have been visiting relatives in Wisconsin."

"Well, you can go no further on this train unless you can pay your fare."

A bright thought occurred to Mrs. Herbert.

"I will place my watch in your keeping," she said, "when I reach Detroit I will pawn it for money to pursue my journey. My husband will send for, and redeem it."

"That will do," said the conductor. "I will take your watch, and give you a check for Detroit. I have no authority to do so from the Railroad Company, but may upon my own responsibility."

But Mrs. Herbert's embarassment was not to be relieved so readily as she hoped. Searching for her watch, that also was not to be found.

"Oh, what shall I do?" she said, her face growing very pale. "My watch is gone, too! I must have been robbed in Chicago."

"You can leave the train at the next station," he said quickly and decidedly; that's what you can do."

The whistle sounded for "down brakes," and the conductor stepped out upon the platform of the car. Mrs. Herbert looked around her. There were but few passengers in the car; some were reading, some were looking out upon the town they were just entering. No one seemed to have heard the conversation between the conductor and herself, or at least to become interested in her behalf.

The train stopped; the conductor appeared; and taking her shawl and traveling basket from the rack above her head, bade her follow him. In ten minutes more the train had gone, and Mrs. Herbert sat alone in the ladies' waiting room of the L—— depot, trying to decide upon the course best to pursue. She had no money to defray her expenses at a hotel, she had nothing to pay a hackman for taking her to one; but, after a few moments of reflection, she resolved to inquire the residence of the clergyman of that church of which she was herself a member, and ask him in the name of christian charity and kindness, to give her a home until she could send her husband a telegram, and he could furnish her money to pursue her journey.

Inquiring of the ticket agent the name of the clergyman she hoped to find, and being politely directed to his house, she was soon at the door and rang the bell. He answered the summons in person, and in a few hurried sentences she made known her misfortunes and her request.

The Rev. Mr. Ripley was thin, tall, and straight. He was apparently forty-five years of age; polished, but pompous; no particle of dust could have been found on his fine broadcloth; or nicely polished boots; the tie in his cravat was faultless; his hair was brushed carefully forward to conceal a coming baldness. Very dignified, very important, very ministerial appeared the reverend gentleman; but as Mrs. Herbert looked into his cold gray eyes, she felt that benovolence was by no means as strong an element in his composition as selfishness. Her heart seemed to chill in his presence; she could not help constrasting him, mentally, with the good Mr. Weston, the pastor of her own church at home. Ah, not often had the hand now thrust into the bosom of his tightly buttoned dress coat been prompted by the cold heart beneath, to place a bright little coin upon the palm of beggared childhood—not often had his footsteps found their way to poverty's door! Yet this unworthy representative of the Christian church preached charity to his rich congregation at least twice every Sabbath; and so far as he himself was concerned, made preaching supply the place of practice.

"Madame," he said, after eyeing her from head to foot, "you have a pretty story; but the streets of L—— are full of such stories at the present day.—Did I listen to one half I hear of the the kind, I should have my house filled with poor miscreants all the time, and perhaps few of them would be worthy of my respect. I cannot keep you as you request."

Mrs. Herbert turned from the inhospitable door of the Rev. Mr. Ripley. The cool insolence with which he had treated her had almost driven courage from her heart; but she determined now to seek a hotel, where at least she might rest herself and decide upon some new course of action. She had eaten nothing since morning; indeed she had not even thought of food, but now she felt faint and weary, and the consciousness that she was alone, in a great city, friendless and penniless, with the shades of evening already falling, quite unnerved her. As she glanced up and down the street, the first thing that attracted her attention was—not a public house sign, but in large gilt letters—the words "Masonic Hall." Her heart gave a quick, joyful bound. Her husband was a member of the Masonic fraternity, and she knew that the duty a Mason owed to his brother he owed equally to that brother's wife or daughter. She remembered also, that to that noble Order she was indebted for nearly all of the happiness she had known in life. But, familiar as she had been with its workings in her native city, she had never realized its universality; had never understood how, like some great talismanic belt, it circles the earth, embracing all mankind in its protecting fold, softening the asperities of dissenting religionists; shedding the purple light of love on the fierce rapids of commercial life; enlightening and ennobling politicians, and harmonizing their conflicting sentiments upon a sense of kindred.

Mrs. Herbert paused irresolute.—What would she not have given for the knowledge of one mystic sign, by which to call her husband's mystic brother's to her side.

Men were passing rapidly up and down the street; elegantly dressed ladies were out enjoying the delicious coolness of the evening, for the day had been sultry, but among all the busy throng there was not one whom she felt at liberty to accost.

A gentleman was passing her, leading a little girl by the hand. With a quick gesture she arrested his steps.—She had observed nothing in the stranger's face; indeed, she had not noticed it at all, but a Maltese cross was suspended from his watch guard, and the moment she discovered it she had involuntarily lifted her hand to prevent its passing her.

The stranger looked at her inquiringly. She pointed at the cross, and said:

"That, sir, is why I stopped you: will you excuse me for addressing you, and please tell me if you are a Mason?"

"I am," he replied.

"Oh, sir, my husband is a Mason, and perhaps you would be kind to a brothers's wife."

"Where does your husband live?"

"In Boston. His name is G. W. Herbet; he is of the firm Herbet, Jackson & Co., of L—— Street. I was on my way to him from Wisconsin, but have been robbed of the means of paypaying my fare, and the conductor refused to take me further. I have applied to Rev. Mr. Ripley, and he turned me insultingly from his door."

"The old hypocrite," muttered the gentleman. "Mrs. Herbert, my house is but one block distant, and it is at your service. My wife will make you welcome and comfortable. Will you accept our hospitality?"

"O, sir, how gladly!"

Half an hour later Mrs Herbert was refreshing herself at the well-spread table of Mr. Henderson, first officer of the Eureka Commandery, No. 12.

When supper was over, Mr. Henderson said to his wife; "I have a few minutes' business down town; will return immediately. Make Mrs. Herbert feel herself at home."

He walked directly to the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and addressed the following message to his brother in Boston

"Is G. W. Herbert; L—— street, a member of our Order, and is his wife in the West. Answer immediately."

When he returned home, he found his wife and Mrs. Herbert engaged in an animated conversation; and he was surprised to note the change in the strange lady's appearance, now that she felt herself among friends. Her face was so genuine an impress of sweetness and purity; her conversation was expressive of such lofty sentiments such real goodness of heart, and betrayed so highly cultivated a mind, that Mr. Henderson found himself regretting that he had taked the precaution to send a telegram to Boston, in order to prove the truthfulness of her statement.

Mrs. Henderson seated herself at the elegant piano, and after performing a few pieces, invited Mrs. Herbert to play also. She gracefully complied; and after a low, sweet prelude, began to sing:

"A stranger I was, but they kindly received me"

She sang the piece entirely through, her voice quivering with emotion; and when she had finished it, both Mr. and Mrs. Henderson were at her side, and the gentleman said:

"Mrs. Herbert, it is we who are blessed, in being permitted to form the acquaintance of so entertaining a converser and musician. You are a stranger, but a dear friend, a sister, a brother's wife; you have a right in our home. A Knight Templer's home is ever open to the unfortunate. But you must not leave the piano yet; play another piece for us, your own favorite."

"I do not know that I have a favorite of my own."

"Your husband's then," suggested Mr. Henderson."

Again Mrs. Herbert's practiced fingers swept over the keys; and then her clear, rich, cultivated voice arose in the popular masonic ode,

"Hail, Masonary Divine."

As the last sweet echo died away, she arose, saying, "That is my husband's favorite"

Mr. Henderson was standing with his arm about his wife. Tears were in his eyes, and he drew her closer to him, as he said:

"O, Jennie, will you not learn that piece for my sake?"

"But I never could make it sound like Mrs. Herbert," she replied, "for you know I don't like masonry."

"And why do you not like it?" asked Mrs. Herbert.

"Because it rises like a mountain between me and my husband. I am jealous of masonry," and the glance she cast upon him at her side, told Mrs. Herbert how this wife loved her husband, and she almost pardoned her for her dislike of masonry, upon the ground she had mentioned. But she felt that Mrs. Henderson was in error, and she said:

"Will you allow me to tell you why I love masonry?

"O, yes," replied Mrs Henderson.—"I should be glad to feel differently if I could."

After all were comfortably seated, Mrs. Herbers began:

"My father was a commission merchant in Boston, and in consequence of causes which I could never fully understand—for I was very young at the time—he failed in business. Our beautiful home was taken from us, and he removed mother and me to an humble, but comfortable cottage in the suberbs, while he procured employment in a dry goods establishment.

He was disheartened by his sudden and heavy losses. It was seldom, indeed, that he was heard to speak cheerfully. His health declined, and, before we had ever dreamed of the threatening danger, he was a confirmed consumptive. But he was a mason, and we were not allowed to feel that his inability for labor had deprived us of the comforts of our home. Supplies of provisions, clothing and fuel came regularly to our door. But one still evening in September, we were gathered around the bedside to take the last farewell. The friends of our prosperous days were not there—they left us with our riches—but a circle of true, manly faces were there, and tears were brushed aside which were the overflow of sympathizing and affectionate hearts. I stood beside my grief-stricken mother, who knelt beside the couch of death, her head bowed helpless upon the emaciated hand upon which she had always depended for guidance and instruction. My father kissed me tenderly, and turning to his masonic brothers, said: 'I can but leave my dear ones to your care, and I know that I can trust you. I feel that poor Alice will not long survive my loss, and then this little one will be a helpless waif on the great sea of humanity. I give her to you, not as the child of one, but of all—the child of the lodge.'"

"A few moments and I was fatherless. One of those strong, noble men lifted me in his arms and bore me from the room. I had heard what my father had said, and although but a child of seven years, I comprehended it all. I threw my arms around the good man's neck, who held me so tenderly, and sobbed, 'O, sir, will you be my father?"

"Yes, my dear little girl,' he said, in a broken voice, 'you shall never want.'"

"Mother, was a frail, delicate creature, and her constant watching at father's bedside combined with the last terrible shock, threw her into a fever from which she never recovered. We remained in the cottage until my sweet mother's death, and my father's masonic brothers anticipated our every want. And when I was at last an orphan, my new protectors took me away. All felt that I was a sacred charge. I was placed under the care of the most reliable instructers and my health was carefully guarded. I lived in the house of him whom I had asked to be my father, and I believe he loved me as his child. When I arrived at the age of twenty years, I was married—with the full approbation of my guardians—to Mr. Herbert then a confidential clerk in a dry good house. The young man was a mason; he was honest and attentive to business. Now he is partner in the same house. We have an elegant home, and a wide circle of friends; but none are so dearly prized as the tried and true; and once every year our parlors are opened to receive, with their families, the few who remain of those who, at the time of my father's death, were members of the lodge to which he belonged. You understand now, my friends, why I love masonry.

Mrs. Henderson lifted her eyes to those of her husband. He was looking at her wistfully, so pleadingly.

"My dear wife," said he, "Mrs. Herbert's story is but one of thousands. It is the aim of masonry to relieve the distressed everywhere, and elevate and enoble ourselves. Our labors take us often from the loved home circle; but it would not be manly in us to spread the knowledge of the good we do. To many of the recipients of our charity it would be bitter relief, if trumpeted forth to the world."

"Mrs. Henderson placed both her hands in those of her husband, and said, her eyes filling with tears. I will learn to play that piece for you, and I think that I can give it some of Mrs. Herbert's expressions, for I think differently of masonry than I have ever done before."

The next morning, when breakfast was over, Mrs. Herbert said, "now Mr. Henderson, I must send an immediate telegram to my husband, for I am very anxious to meet him, and I must not tresspass upon your genuine hospitality longer than is necessary."

"Will you entrust me with the message?"

"Yes sir:" and it was soon ready.

"Ah! I was about sending the answer to your telegram to Boston," said the operator to Mr. Henderson, as he entered the office. He took the paper extended towards him, and found the message to be as follows:

"G. W. Herbert is a Worthy Knight Templar. He stands well, socially and financially. His wife lives in Wisconsin."

Mr. Henderson called upon a few of his masonic friends, and then hastened home. Taking a roll of bills from his side pocket, he laid it beside Mrs. Herbert, saying "I did not send your message. I have taken the liberty to draw from the Bank of Masonry a deposit made by your husband for your benefit.

"The bank of Masonry? A deposit for my benefit? I do not understand you," said Mrs. Herbert.

"Well, I will explain. Every dollar a man contributes towards the support of the masonic institution, is a deposit to be drawn at any time he or his family may require it. I know positively, that your husband is a worthy mason, and this money—one hundred dollars—is as really and truly yours as if he had handed it to you himself. If you wish to continue your journey to-day I will see you safely on the one o'clock train."

Mrs. Herbert's lips quivered, but she only said, "O, I shall be so glad to go."

"Now, I havo only to, say beware of pickpockets," said Mr. Henderson as the train began to move.

A week later, the Secretary of the Eureka Commandery announced to his brothers, in regular conclave assembled, the receipt of a letter from which he proceeded to read as follows:

"To N. F. Henderson, E. C. and Sir Knights of the Eureka Commandery, No. 12.

"I enclose you a check for one hundred dollars, the amount so kindly furnished by you to my wife, who arrived at home in safety yesterday.—My gratitude to you for your timely sympathy and care, is only equalled by her own, who says that her experience in that city has added a new chapter to her "Reasons for loving Masonry."

"Should any of you visit Boston, do not fail to call upon us, that we may return you our thanks in person, and invite you to the hospitalities of our home."

Dr. Livingstown's last African discovery is of a tribe that lives altogether in underground houses. Some excavations are said to be thirty miles long, and have running rills in them. A whole district can stand a siege in them. The "writings" threin, he has been told by some of the people, are on wings of animals, and not letters. They are said to be very dark and well made. Geographers and ethnologists will look with impatient interest for further information concerning this remarkable people.

Archbishop Dupanloup, of France, will lead the minority of the Œcumenical council, against the infallibillity of the Pope. He has publicly asserted in Rome that he hopes to succeed in crushing out the idea of Papal infallibillity, that "St. Bernard whipped into his disciples seven hundred years ago, and which it was left for the radicals of the Society of Jesus to resuscitate in our times."

A man who had purchased a pair of new shoes, finding the road to be a rather rough one, decided on putting his shoes under his arm, and walking home barefooted. After a while he stumped his great toe, taking the nail off as clear as a whistle.

"How lucky," he exclaimed, "what a tremendous kick that would have been for the shoes."

An old man named Fisher, at Paloka, Indiana, told his wife he was going into the cellar to commit suicide. She heard his pistol and kept on knitting. In about an hour Fisher came up, thinking they didn't miss him at home.

"Mother," said Ike Partington, "did you know that the 'iron horse' had but one ear?" "One ear! merciful gracious, child, what do you mean?" "Why, the engineer, of course."

An old lady, being asked by her minister what she thought of the doctrine of "total depravity," she replied that she thought it a very good doctrine if people would only live up to it.

"What a fine head your boy has!" said an admiring friend. "Yes," said the fond father, "he's a chip of the old block; ain't you sonny?" I guess so; my teacher said I was a young blockhead.

A Western editor has placed over his marriage heading a cut representing a large trap sprung with the motto:

"The trap down; another minny caught."

"My Son," said an anxious father. "Why do you use that nasty tobacco?" The boy, declining to consider the question in the spirit in which it was asked, replied, "to get the juice."

FARMER'S COLUMN.

Among the many modes of fattening fowls, which are from time to time, presented to the public, none is more highly commended than the following, which is the method largely practiced in England, and it said, always with great economy and perfect success. In this method the custom is to put the fowls into coops as usual, but where they can get no gravel. Keep corn in feed boxes all the time, and also give them corn-meal dough, well cooked, once a day. For drinking give them fresh skimmed milk, with a sprinkling of charcoal well pulverized. Fed in this way, it is said they will fatten nicely in from ten to twelve days. If kept beyond that time, it is customary to furnish them with the gravel to prevent them from falling away. One extensive English fowl breeder states that he has tried this method for years, and has never known it to fail. In this method ,as in all others, it is of course necessary that the fowls should occupy coops protected from the cold, and kept perfectly clean and dry.

A Correspondent of the New England Farmer relates the experience of a neighbor in destroying apple tree borers by plugging up the holes they make in the tree. He says that his friend, while making an examination this spring of some of his trees, found several holes with signs of borers at work. He soon found it too much of a job to follow them with wire or chisel; so he dug around the roots, scraped off the rough bark from the roots and trunk, and found all the holes. Then he took common putty and plugged them perfectly tight. On the third day after doing this he visited the tree, and on removing the putty found, to his surprise, four borers dead, all of which came out with the plugging. By this process he destroyed the borers without cutting the roots or trunk of the tree, which is as injurous as the work of the borer, as I have often found it necessary to cut quite deep in order to reach the rascals. From the irregularity o the direction of their course, I have also found much difficulty in fishing them out with a barbed wire.

A correspondent of the Small Fruit Recorder says: An experiment made last year by myself may not come amiss at this time with those who grow strawberries. I procured a half hogshead, filled it with rain water, and put into it one-quarter of a pound of ammonia, and one-quarter pound of common nitre. When the strawberry plants were blossoming out, I gave them a sprinkling of the solution at evening twice a week, until the fruit was nearly full size. The result was double the amount of fruit on those where the liquid was applied to what was obtained from those vines right along side of those where none of the liquid was applied.

Mash five or six boiled potatoes while hot with a teacupful of flour, add boiling water till it becomes a batter, put in a tablespoonful of brown sugar and one of salt. When luke-warm, add half a pint of yeast, let it stand behind the stove till it begins to ferment, then cork tightly and set in a cool place. Half a teacupful is sufficient to raise four or five loaves. If one cannot get yeast to start with, she can make it herself by taking a teaspoonful of flour, molasses and water, mixing it well and letting it stand in a place a day or two. This will raise the yeast without any trouble.

A member of the Hermiker County Farmers' Club, states that last spring he plowed an old sod in which there was an immense number of grubs.—He sowed upon three acres and three-quarters, soon after plowing, two bushels of coarse salt. This was dissolved by rain which came a day or two later. The ground was then thoroughly harrowed and planted to corn, about half a pint of leached ashes being placed with each hill. The yield was very large, and there was not the slightest injury by worms. He has no doubt that the crop would have been quite destroyed had there been no application of salt.

It has been settled by numberless experiments that cooking food for cattle or hogs adds about fifty per cent. to its value. If a man has but few animals to feed it will cost him but little to get his corn ground, and then thoroughly cook or steam, before feeding. If he is a large stock feeder then he should have his own machinery for griding corn and cooking it on a scale commensurate with his wants. No outlay on a stock farm will pay better than a grinding and cooking apparatus. Try it on a small scale and be convinced.

A reliable gentleman in Mississippi furnishes one of our citizens the following receipt for the hog cholera.—He tried this remedy successfully on three different occasions. The receipt is this: Take one pound chloride of lime and one pound bluestone; dissolve in water; let it stand for twelve hours, then pour over one bushel of corn; let it soak for ten or twelve hours after which give it as feed three days in succession. If the hog is hungry he will eat the feed freely.

The New York Farmers' Club say the following fertilizers are best for the respective crops: White beans—Barnyard manure. Onions—Hen manure, salt and lime. Irish Potatoes—Marl. Sweet Potatoes—Little or no manure. Cabbage—The rankest barnyard manure, lime, ashes and no pig manure. Sweet Corn—The richest manure to be obtained. Tomatoes—Well-rotted stable manure on poor soils; on rich soils, no manure.

It is best to handle calves as much as possible, and pet them, lead them with a halter, and caress them in various ways. Calves managed in this way will always be docile and suffer themselves to be approached and handled both in the pasture and in the barn.

RADICAL FRAUD.

The Watt-Diamond Case.

At the opening of the legislature, on Tuesday last, the question was presented to the Senate, whether W. W. Watt or Alex. Diamond is entitled to a seat in that body for the First District, (Philadelphia.) M. Diamond had a majority of upward of 200 on the night of the election, but when the return judges met, his opponent, M. Watt, was counted in by 76 majority. It is asserted by the Democrats of Philadelphia, and admitted by the decent radical journals of that city, that this was accomplished by an act of deliberate forgery. Judge Allison, when applied to for a mandamus to compel the return judges to count the true vote cast for these two candidates, declared from the bench, that the certificate electing Watt was "nothing else than a false return." The Judge is a radical of the straitest sect, but conscientious enough to admit the rascality of his party.—The Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch, a journal which is always found in opposition to the Democratic party, in its issue of Oct. 17, 1869, had the following comments on the action of the return judges in this case:

It can scarcely be questioned, by any one who looks carefully at the returns of the election last week, that fraud has been resorted to in the Board of Return Judges in order to give the certificate of election to the Senate from the First district to William W. Watt. The district is composed of the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth, and Twenty-sixth wards.—The return is: For Watt, Republican, 13,017; for Diamond, Democrat, 12,640. In the same wards, Geary had 12,723 votes or 293 less than are given to Watt; while Packer had 13,247, or 409 more than are awarded to Diamond. Williams had 12,834 votes, or 182 less than are given to Watt; whilst Pershing had 13,143, or 303 more than are given to Diamond. Now, is there any reason why Watt should be more popular than Geary or Williams, or that Diamond should be more unpopular than Packer or Pershing? The presumption is that the vote of neither of these Senatorial candidates was governed by personal considerations, but was purely political. There is no reason why Mr. Watt should run ahead of his ticket, nor that Mr. Diamond should lag behind. The whole thing has a suspicious look, and justifies the belief that the return is a gross fraud.

A similar outrage was attempted in the legislative return for the Thirteenth district. The return judge, who must have profited by the knowledge of the means by which the Byerly frauds were perpetrated some years ago, took his return to his residence and placed them in a book-case, from which they mysteriously disappeared before the morning. Officers of election usually have good memories as to the very few figures required in a general return, but this one had not. With his certificate he lost his recollection.—He was compelled to resort to the return filed in the Prothonotary's Office and, by a most remarkable fatality, that return had been tampered with and the figures altered, the innocent return judge not being aware of the remarkable change in the result, which elected a candidate whom he must have known was defeated; and, being unable to notice the palpable alteration in the figures, he copied off the mutilated return as he found it. The result would have been to certify that Mr. Geisz, Rupublican, was elected to the Legislature instead of Mr. Forsyth, who had the majority. No one with common sense will believe that the election officer was ignorant of the fact that Geisz was defeated. In that case, by prompt action, the fraud was prevented, and Mr. Forsyth received his certificate. One of the effects of the Registry law, we were told, would be to create an honest class of election officers, appointed by the Board of Aldermen. In no case heretofore in this city have there been such glaring attempts at fraud as have been made in the hope of unseating Diamond and Forsyth. If these are the blessings of the new system, the sooner we return to the old plan the better."

The Dispatch is supported in its statements by the Philadelphia Morning Post, an intensely radical sheet, which in its issue of Oct. 18, 1869, denounced the return giving the election to Watt as a palpable fraud. As further evidence, from radical sources, we subjoin the article of the Post just referred to.

"The Legislature alone can decide whether Mr. Watt or Mr. Diamond was elected in the First Senatorial District. Contested election cases are submitted to special committees, not selected, we believe, but chosen by chance. The evidence is taken and the arguments made before the committee, and its decision is generally final.

We pointed out on Saturday the facts which makes this case a very grave one. We showed that while the returns gave Mr. William W. Watt, the Republican candidate, a mojority of 176 in the First district, the seven wards which compose that district gave Democratic majorities for all other officers voted for. Sellers's majority over Ashton is 281; Packer's majority over Geary is 524. These figures do not lie, but they suggest lying. It is impossible for us to see any cause for this amazing difference in the vote of those wards. We thought we understood the canvass in this city tolerably well, and knew the popular and unpopular candidates. But we discovered no enthusiasm for Mr. Watt, no objection to Mr. Diamond, sufficient to explain why the former should get a Republican majority of 176 in a Democratic district, which went against such a popular candidate as Mr. Ashton by 281 votes. If any one can show us even a plausible explanation of this political miracle our obligations will be great.

But till good cause for Mr. Watt's astonishing and unexpected majority is shown, intelligent citizens of both parties will believe that the returns are fraudulent. The Legislature may decide against Mr. Diamond, but public opinion will declare that downright cheating has been committed to send a Republican to the Senate. That is our opinion now; we should be happy to have it changed, but have no hopes of that. As the figures stand, as the character of the contest is now understood, the return of Mr. Watt appears to be as palpable a fraud as ever was attempted in this city."

We are not advised, at this writing, what disposition the Senate has made of this case. If Watt has been admitted to a seat, the majority have simply exercised the power of that brute force which consists in superiority of numbers. Right, justice, fairness have not been considered by this tyrannical majority, if it has allowed one of its partisans to usurp the place which rightfully belongs to a political opponent. We have referred to this matter only to give our readers a slight glimpse, through radical glasses, of the frauds by means of which the Democrats of Philadelphia were cheated at the last election. A victory obtained by such means, ought to be the shame rather than the glory of the party which enjoys its results.

How about that vote of Congressman Cessna against the motion to lay on the table Ingersoll's greenback resolution? It must not be forgotten that Mr. Ingersoll, of Illinois, offered a resolution, in the House of Representatives, at Washington, authorizing the Treasury Department to issue Forty-four Millions of greenbacks to be exchanged for that amount in government bonds. The opponents of this movement sought to have a motion adopted to lay it on the table. If this motion had prevailed the resolution would have been "killed." John Cessna, "our Congressman," voted with the friends of the resolution, against the motion to lay on the table. It is needless to inform the intelligent reader that this proposition of exchanging "greenbacks for bonds," is to put into practical operation the doctrine of George H. Pendleton, which every radical newspaper in this Congressional district, has denounced as sheer repudiation. Mr. Cessna, too, has frequently fulminated against it from the stump. Now we would like to know the meaning of this change of base on the part of "our Congressman." We have already asked the radical journals to explain, but they are as dumb as an oyster. John Cessna turned Pendleton repudiationist! Can such things be and overcome us, etc., etc., etc.

DISUNION.

Georgia is again out of the Union; not by her own act, this time, but by act of Congress. A year ago she was represented on the floor of Congress and was completely rehabilitated in full state-hood. Now she is denied a voice in the councils of the nation, is remanded to military rule, is literally kicked out of the Union. Why? Because her legislature, although containing a "republican" majority, refused seats to negroes and rejected the Fifteenth Amendment! What a beautiful country this is becoming! How glorious is the freedom we enjoy! How stable is the Union, with a State in one year and out the next! If there is one hell hotter than all the chambers of Inferno, it must have been created especially for the infamous wretches who do this devils' work!

STANTON DEAD.

Edwin M. Stanton died on the 24th ult., at Washington city. His public career is too well known to require rehearsal. He was a great lawyer, a great intriguer and a great tyrant.—We had hoped that he might live until, under a restored constitution, he would pay the penalty of the law for his thousand crimes against civil liberty and constitutional government. But an all-wise Providence has taken his case out of the court below.—May the relentless soul find that mercy in the Higher Court which it so often denied on earth. But the grave should cover every fault. Let even Stanton rest in peace!

A speek of war in the East. The Egyptian Viceroy persists in treating with contempt the demands of his suzerain at Constantinople, and last week the rage of the Sublime Porte ran over. He has forwarded to Alexandria a violent message, commanding Ismail Pacha to abandon his iron-clad fleet, If the Viceory feels strong enough to strike for independence, there will shortly be throat-cutting in the Levant. The extraordinary coolness with which he has hectored his peppery master indicates a mind contented with the prospects of a future struggle.

FROM GEORGIA.

The Political Situation in the State; Peaceful Disposition of the People; Cotton and Wheat Culture; Prices of Lands; Climate, &c., &c.

GREENBORO, GA., Dec. 24, 1869.

Editors of the Bedford Gazette.

DEAR SIRS:—Being acquainted with a great number of the citizens of your county, I desire to speak to them, through the columns of your paper, in relation to affairs here in this unreconstructed state of Georgia. I have been here about six weeks and have come in contact with a vast number of these so-called unrepentant rebels, and must say that I have not in all my life met with a more hospitable, more genial or more social set of people anywhere. They extend a hearty welcome to all persons, of whatever political faith, who come among them for the honest purpose of helping to build up their country, and I have reason to believe that a man could remain here six months without being asked his politics.

I admit that I am somewhat surprised to find with what composure and apparent indifference they regard the late action of Congress, which reseats ignorant negroes in the state Legislature, and gives all control of the state into the hands of a Carpet-Bag Governor, who has maligned and very grossly insulted and abused one of the best communities of people on earth, and who has no interest in the state except to rob it, which he has already done and hopes to continue to do.

Everything is quiet here, and life is full as safe, and in my best judgment, safer here than in the state of Pennsylvania. The outrages reported from time to time in Northern Radical Journals are generally base fabrications gotten up by the enemies of the state for political purposes. If a murder similar to that of the Peichtal Family of Huntingdon county was perpetrated here, it would immediately appear in all Northern Radical Journals as a Ku Klux outrage.

From what I see of these people I am fully convinced they are formed of the same flesh and blood, possess as much brain, and have it as well cultivated as any of the people of the North, not even those whining hypocritical Puritan Radicals of New England excepted. Ye who may doubt my word come and see and be convinced. You will find society excellent here and the people high-toned. I am not of course, speaking of the Niggers, but even their morals here are much above those of the border states, of the same color.

And, now, having said a word to you on the political and social situation, I wish to add something in relation to the country. The climate is one of the finest in the world, here in central Georgia. A very intelligent foreigner, who has traveled over southern Italy, tells me this climate is equal to, if not preferable, to that of southern Italy. Our winters here are much pleasanter than your Octobers in Bedford county. Up to the date of writing I have not seen a snow flake. We have but little frost and vegetables of nearly all kinds are raised in the gardens during all seasons of the year. This portion of Georgia is admitted to be equally as healthy as any portion of the United States. Water is both good and abundant—plenty of springs. The timber consists of oak, hickory, poplar, pine, chestnut, sassafras, black walnut, &c. The soil is varied and productive, adapted to the growth of all kinds of grain, such as oats, wheat, barley, rye, corn, &c. Cotton is the chief staple, although wheat raising is much more profitable here than in the North. With very good cultivation and fertilizing some farmers have raised fifty bushels per acre, which is worth now here two dollars per bushel. These high prices are owing to the fact that nearly all attention is given to cotton raising which is considered more profitable.

Although these are not regarded as the best cotton land in the south, yet planters, by good fertilizing, raise from one to three bales per acre, worth at this time her , about one hundred and Twelve Dollars per bale. One-half bale is considered a fair average yield in a good season without fertilizers and on old lands. While more cotton can be raised in some other portions of the south than here, those portions are no by means as healthful as this section and hence the preference for these lands.

As to Fruit: Apples do only tolerably well here. They are very abundant in some other portions of the state. Peaches, pears, plums, figs, quinces, &c., grow in abundance, likewise the smaller fruits, such as blackberries, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries, &c. Strawberries are ripe in May, and peaches in June and last till the latter part of October.

As to prices of lands: They are low. Good farms can be bought at from $2 to $10 per acre, with some improvements, in many instances very comfortable dwellings with tenant houses and cotton Gin and Press attached.

To cultivate well from 100 to 200 acres on a farm of six or eight hundred acres you can pay for the whole with two good crops.

While lands are cheap, I consider them worth more, acre per acre, for making money than many of the very best lands of Pennsylvania. To such as think of emigrating westward or to Tennessee, let me give you a wor of advice. If you desire a healthful and pleasant home in a good climate, come here. If you desire to make money come here. If your means are limited you can find a piece of land just large enough to suit you. You can rent good land here for one fourth the crop or get one half and the owner will find everything but your labor. Rest assured you will receive a hearty welcome and find more real friends than you met in all your life.

I have visited nearly all the western states, I have been in Tennessee with its sudden changes of weather, have learned the prices of lands in all these states, and must say candidly that "Georgia beats them all."

There is more business done in this little village of Greensboro of about 1000 inhabtants, in one day than there is done in Bedford in one week and all business is cash.

If any desire to come to investigate they can get an "Excursion Certificate to the south" by making affidavit that they are coming here for examination with the purpose of Investment. You can get this certificate by applying to S. F. Scull, Pittsburg, General Ticket Agent of the Pan Handle Route, or to J. M. Kimball, Pittsburg, Assistant General ticket agent of Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago R. R.

This Certificate will entitle you to purchase a Ticket to this place, via Louisville and Atlanta, at the rate of two cents per mile from Louisville here, or the conductors on these southern roads must take fare at the rate of two cents per mile by your presenting this Certificate, and you can travel while here and return at the same rate, or you can come by the way of New York and Charleston, S. C. These Certificates can be got in New York, of J. W. Huntingdon, 229 Broadway, or C. E. Evans, 187 Greenwich street., or of J. W. Prince, No. 2. Astor House. Fare from N. Y. here by steamship is $19.00. If any of the farmers of Bedford county think of emigrating, it will certainly be to their advantage to visit this locality before locating elsewhere, and my advice to those who think of coming is to come soon, as lands are going up in price, and must be double what they now are within the next two years. Mr. A. H. Stevens says that these lands must bring $50 per acre within the next ten years, and I think he is correct.

Any information any of you may desire will be cheerfully given by addressing me here. Hoping this letter may be the means of inducing many of you to better your condition by coming south, I will close,

Very respectfully, yours,

E. W. MILLER,

Greenboro, Green Co., Georgia.

P. S. Don't fear the Reconstruction of congress. I can assure you the Radicals with Grant at their back cannot carry another election here.

Salnave has fallen. The revolutionists attacked his last remaining stronghold, Port-au-Prince, on the night of the 18th ult., drove in his pickets, and captured the city without a drop of blood being shed. Salnave fled to a fort near the city, and was supposed to be in great peril if the foreign cousuls should not interfere to secure his safety. This ends the Haytian revolution. Salnave became conspicuous for the first time in July, 1864, by an attempt to assassinate one of President Geffard's ministers. He was condemned to death by courtmartial, but escaped to St. Domingo, headed a rebellion against Geffard, and formed a provisional government, May 1865. The insurrection was, after several severe struggles, suppressed in November of that year. Salnave renewed the attempt, and succeeded in obtaining supreme power in June, 1867, Geffard having fled the country. A revolt against the new Dictator broke out in 1868, and has continued, with varying fortune until the present time. About two months ago General Chevalier, the ablest of Salnave's generals, deserted his cause, and since then he has been cooped up in Port-au-Prince. His reign has covered two years and six months.

A young scamp, named Christian, who is a disgrace to the name he bears, and to Plymouth Church, where he received his religious instructions, visited Turkey some months ago, and and pursuaded a beautiful Oriental maiden to elope with him, promising to marry her upon their arrival in this country. The young lady, Miss Henta Harootunia, was posessed of about $25,000 in money, which she gave to her lover, and when they arrived in Brooklyn, he took this money and set up a confectionery establishment with it, and turned the poor Turkish girl out into the street. After wandering around for some hours, she returned and asked Christian to allow her to live with him, but he had her arrested as a vagrant and sent to jail. Fortunately, the case was brought to the notice of Judge Troy and Mr. C. Oscanyan, the Turkish Consul, and Miss Horootunia was released on a writ of habeas corpus, and is now well cared for. It is probable that the Grand Jury will indict Christian for his unmanly behaviour, and it is to be hoped that he will be forced to marry the lady he has outraged, or pay roundly for his rascality.

Pope Pius IX. declared to the Italian prelate just previous to the opening of the Œcumenical Council that he would not urge the ratification of the doctrine of Papal infallibility, if he imagined it would produce a lengthy debate, angry discussion or dissension, but would agree to let the status awarded to it during the past three hundred years. The Pope expects the Council to go with him strongly, however, in favor of the Syllabus of 1864, and he confidently trusts that the assembled prelates will endorce his views on all ethical and social questions, as the general basis of their decisions, seeing that the instrument alluded to embodies the fundamental maxims of the Catholic Church. So it seems that the Pope is prepared for the manœuvres of the ultramontanes, who hoped to break up the Council by forcing the hasty adoption of the dogma of the Papal infallibility by that body about the time of the feast of the Epiphany.

There is great interest manifested in the probable relative strength of parties in the Œcumenical Council. The World correspondent at Rome writes that of the 800 members of the Council the liberal party led by Mgr. Dupanloup and the French bishops will not number above 200, so that it is certain that the Pope will carry all his points, including the dogma of infallibility. The strength of the minority is enough, however, to raise discussion and possibly dissension among the Fathers.

PROCEEDINGS OF BEDFORD COUNTY TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.—Pursuant to a call issued by the Co. Supt., the teachers of Bedford county assembled in the Hall of the Union School-House, for the purpose of holding their annual Institute, at 1 o'clock, P. M., Dec. 27, 1869.

The Convention was called to order by the Co. Supt., and the session was opened with prayer by Prof. H. B. Zimmerman. An address of welcome was then delivered by the Co. Supt. The Convention proceeded to elect the officers for the present session which resulted as follows: Vice Prest., A. L Stayer; Rec. Sec., D. M. Sams; Cor. Sec., O. H. Huston; Treas., Josiah Amos; Bus. Com., S. D. Middleton, Maggie Mower, O. G. McCoy.

The names of the members present being taken, the Co. Supt. conducted an exercise in Orthography. A Committee was then appointed to examine the lists of those participating in the exercise.

The Convention fixed the time for meeting and adjourning as follows: Morning sessions to open at 9 o'clock and close at 11.35. Afternoon sessions to open at 1.30 and close at 4 o'clock. Evening sessions to convene at 6. 30 P. M. By motion it was decided that the day sessions be held in the Union School Hall and the evening sessions in the Court Hall. A Committee was then appointed on Music by the Co. Supt. On motion adjourned to meet in Court Hall at 6.30 P. M.

Eeening Session.

The Convention met in the Court Hall at 6.30 P. M. and was called to order by the President.

Minutes of previous session were read and adopted. An essay entitled, "Abilities to Teach," written by Miss Maggie J. O'Conner, was at her request read by J. M. Reynolds, Esq.

The Institute was then favored with a lecture on "Phonography" by Prof. H. B. Zimmerman. The gentlemen in his lecture clearly illustrated to his audience the superior advantages, this art possesses over all others in taking speeches, lectures, &c., during their delivery for the press. The lecture was an able one, and showed that the author was master of the subject.

Morning Session, Dec. 28.

Convention was opened with prayer by Prof. H. B. Zimmerman. The meeting was next favored with music by the "Glee Club." A roll of members by Districts was then prepared.—Following which was an essay on the subject 'Winter Evenings' by Miss Lizzie Pierson. Remarks were then made by the Co. Supt. on keeping "Monthly Reports." The next order of business was an essay by O. G. McCoy, on the subject of "Causes of and remedies for irregular attendance," which was discussed by Messrs. Barclay, W. B. Miller, Jos. Tomlinson, J. H. Jordan, Dively and H. B. Zimmerman. The debate was a warm and earnest one and many of the causes of irregular attendance in our rural districts, as well as the remedies for them, was forcibly presented by the speakers.

Afternoon Session.

The subject of irregular attendance was again taken up and discussed by different members of the Convention. Mrs. Fisher then entertained the Convention with select reading, which was followed by an address on the subject of teaching. Reading, by M. R. Minnich, after which Prof. Waugh of Hollidaysburg favored the Convention with an instructive lecture on "Etymology."

Evening Session.

Convention met in Court Hall at 6½ o'clock, and was called to order by Prest. After which Co. Supt. introduced Prof. Waugh, who delivered a lecture on the subject, "What shall our Girls Study." The lecturer takingt he Bible as his guide in determining the true sphere of man and woman, dealt some heavy blows at the so-called reformers of the present day. He showed clearly that woman in order to properly fill her sphere in life, should be specially educated for that sphere. That standing firm by the Bible truths, she cannot, she dare not take Elizabeth Cady Stanton as her type of a true woman. He further argued that wherever a teacher found under his care natural talents for special branches of study, he should give such the highest training. In short, he believed in the true woman living, loving and ever abiding in the sphere marked out for her by her Creator. Throughout the entire lecture the Prof. held his audience as one man; thus showing the interest all took in the discourse.

Morning Session, Dec. 29.

Convention met pursuant to adjournment at 9 o'clock and was called to order by the Prest. Minutes of Afternoon and Evening sessions were read and approved. Exercises were opened with singing by the "Glee Club" followed by class drill in Orthography by Co. Supt. An essay was next read by I. P. Smouse, subject "Fright." Method of teaching Orthography was then discussed by Messrs. Jordan, Sams, Tomlinson and Co. Supt. After which an essay was read by Miss Etta Irving, subject "Desire of Knowledge." Music by the Glee Club. Adjourned to meet at 1. 30 P. M.

Afternoon Session.

Exercises opened with singing. On a motion of Jno. H. Jordan the Convention asked the Co. Supt. to deliver a lecture on "The method of teaching the Common School branches," said lecture to be delivered during Friday's session. After a class drill in Orthography, the subject of teaching Orthography was discussed by different members of the Convention. An Essay was next read by S. G. Miller on the subject "Indications of the times."—The Convention elected the following persons a committee on Permanent Certificates, S. D. Middleton, Maggie Mower, Miss Maggie McCleery, Jennie Smith, Mary Holderbaum. An Essay by S. D. Middleton, subject, "The Teacher's Vocation." Lecture on the subject of teaching "A. B. C." by Donald St. George Fraser. Adjourned to meet at the Court Hall at 6½ P. M.

Evening Session.

Convention called to order by Chairman. The meeting was then entertained with a lecture on the subject, "The Teacher." by J. N. Tomlinson. Reading, subjects, the "Relief of Lucknow" and "People will talk," by Mrs. Fisher. Oration, subject, "Stand like the Anvil," by J. H. Jordan. Reading, "No Sect in Heaven" and Darius Green," by Mrs. Fisher. Essay by D. S. A. Tomlinson, on the subject of "Reading and How it is taught in our Public Schools." This Evening's entertainment was rather a lengthy one. A crowded and poorly ventilated Court Hall, together with a number of ill-bred boys, who will attend public entertainments and occupy seats, which might otherwise be filled with ladies and gentlemen, did not add much to the comfort of several of the speakers. In this connection we take the opportunity of saying to the Fathers of the town, that it might be well for them ro look after the interests of Young America in our midst. We may grow notorious; as the boys hold the reins of government here.

Evening Session.

Convention met in Court Hall at 6½ P. M. This being the last Evening's entertainment, the meeting was entertained with recitations by Donald St. Geo. Fraser. Scotch Readings by John Taylor, Esq., and Music by the "Glee Club."

Morning Session, Dec. 30.

The session was opened with a piece of Music entitled "Further On."—Class drill in Orthography continued. The subject "Should the Bible be continued in our Public Schools" was next discussed by Tomlinson, Jordan, Dively, Smith, May. Miss McCleery, P. M. Fisher and Co. Supt. Following which was an essay on the subject, "Good Beginning" by Miss Maggie Mower and an Essay on "The Beautiful" by Miss Maggie McCleery. Mrs. Fisher next favored the Convention with Select Reading, when the meeting adjourned with a piece of Music entitled "The Beautiful Land."

Afternoon Session.

The Convention assembled according to previous adjournment, in Union School Hall at 1½ P. M. and was called to order by the Prest. Class drill in Orthography continued by Co. Supt. An Essay was next read by John W. Ake on the subject 'Woman's Rights.' Followed by a lecture on the method of teaching Grammar, by J. G. Krichbaum. Music by the "Glee Club." An Essay, subject, "Success," by Andrew Stayer. Adjourned to meet at 6½ P. M.

Morning Session, Dec. 31.

Exercises opened with singing the following piece of Music, "Come over the Lake." An Essay was then read by S. M. T. Barclay, theme "Teacher's Duty." The Supt. then awarded the prizes to the following members who had missed the fewest number of words in the contest. W. F. Hughes of South Woodbury received the first prize, Jennie Baylor of Bedford Bor. the second prize, Josiah Amos of Bedford Tp., the third prize. O. G. McCoy of Cum. Valley, Ettie Irving and Maggie McCleery of Bedford Tp., being ties, each received a prize of the same value, and Andrew Stayer of South Woodbury the sixth prize. According to previous resolution the Co. Supt. then addressed the Convention on the method of teaching the Common School branches, which was followed by a discussion on "Woman's Rights," by Smith, Dively, Jordan, Sams, Tomlinson, May. On motion the Convention adjourned sine die.

The following are the resolutions drafted by the Committee, and adopted by the Convention:

Resolved, That we tender a vote of thanks to the Directors of Bedford Bor. for the use of the School Hall during the week, and to the Commissioners of Bedford Co. for the use of the Court Hall.

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered to all parties who entertained the teachers so liberally during their stay with us this week.

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered to the Editors of the Bedford Inquirer and Gazette, for the interest they have always taken in educational matters, for the freedom of discussion of school topics they have always given through their columns, and for the efforts they put forth to make this Convention a success.

Resolved, That we tender a vote of thanks to the firm of Wilson & Hinkle of Cincinnati, E. H. English of Pittsburgh, Amos Stevens of Pittsburg and Ivison, Phinny & Blakeman of New York, for the School Publications gratuitously furnished to the Convention.

Resolved, That we continue the use of P. D. & S's Copy Books, Osgood's Readers, Brown's Grammars, Brook's Arithmetics, Mitchell's Geographies, and that we recommend "Mrs. Randall's Choice Selections in Reading and Elocution," published by Ivison, Phinney, Blakeman & Co., New York, to all teachers who desire a first class work on this subject.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the progressive spirit that characterizes all the movements of our present worthy State Superintendent, and that we hereby pledge our unanimous support to him in every effort he may make to promote the interests of the common school cause in Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That we as a convention do heartily approve of the interest manifested by our County Superintendent in his unceasing efforts to advance the cause of common schools, and fully appreciating his learning and zeal, recognise in him a firm and able advocate and efficient laborer in the field of education.

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are due the directors of the county, who in keeping with the school law of the State, granted the week to such of their teachers as attended this convention; and that we urge all others whose teachers were here present and to whom was not given, that they in their next meeting pass a unanimous resolution granting the time spent in actual attendance at the convention.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the members of the convention, all teachers who, without just cause, absented themselves from this meeting, merit and hereby do receive the censure of this association.

Resolved, That this convention tenden a vote of thanks to all the lecturers, essayists, and speakers, who were present with us during the sessions.

Sec'v.

I congratulate the teachers who were present with us during this session of the County Institute. We have not been disappointed. In point of number enrolled; regularity of attendance, and willingness on the part of our teachers to work whenever called upon, our meetings have been the most successful ever held in the county. Not a single teacher, placed on duty by the committee on programme, failed. With but few exceptions, all were present at roll call and remained in session until the hour for adjourning, thus showing their interest in the work.

Twenty out of the twenty-seven districts in the county, were represented. Of these, Bedford Bor., Bedford tp., Broad Top, Colerain, Coaldale, Liberty, St. Clairsville, Snake Spring and Saxton, had all their teachers present. Some had their time allowed them; others who were in attendance the whole week were not allowed a single day. We would here again repeat, what has been embodied in a resolution, that all directors who had their teachers here in convention, should grant them the number of days present. The roll has been carefully prepared, and the attendance accurately kept, so that directors may know the exact number of days each one attended. We feel sure that some good must result to the schools through this convention, and it is not asking too much when we call upon directors to reward their teachers for time spent here in further preparation for the work in the school room.

The essays, orations and lectures prepared by the teachers showed marked improvement over those of previous years. Among others, we recall with pleasure the oration, on the theme: "Stand like the Anvil," by our talented young townsman, John H. Jordan. For force of diction and for true merit, the production had no superior on the programme. The young orator warming with his subject, grew at times, truly eloquent. We predict for him in his newly chosen profession a brilliant future.

In conclusion, we return thanks to all parties who labored with us during the past week. H. W. FISHER,

Co. Supt.

Twenty insurgents were killed and sixty captured in a sharp engagement Thursday at Magna, in the Cinco Villas District, Cuba. The Spanish loss is not stated. Valmaseda reports that about 700 men, with their officers, have lain down their arms in his district, and that the chief, Coec, and his men had surrendered in the District of Remedios.

A young lady of Wheeling who had been wofully fooled by a young man of the same place, under promise of marriage, called on him Thursday to fulfil his vows, and as he refused she shot him, and surrendered herself to the authorities. The gay deceiver was to have married another girl in a few days.

In 1869 there were 7,745 miles of railway tracks completed in the United States, equal to the total number of miles in operation twenty years ago. We have now 50,000 miles of road in operation, and the average increase per year since 1850, has been 1,500 miles. Last year we expended $300,000,000 in railroad construction.

Postage on letters between the United States and Canada, on and after to-day, will be 6 cents per half ounce, when sent by the Canada mail packet via Quebec or Portland, in winter, or Halifax, and 8 cents via New York. Double rates will be charged for letters insufficiently or not at all prepaid.

A PARTING WORD.—We have grown tired of printing duns in this shape. Our friends in arrears are proof against all such missiles. We have, therefore, concluded to try a different plan, of which due notice is hereby given. We are now sending to each delinquent subscriber a statement of his account, with the proposition that if it be paid by Feb. 19, 1870, a certain deduction will be made. If not paid by that time, full rates will be charged, payment enforced by law, and the paper discontinued in all cases of more than one year's arrearage. Upwards of ten thousand dollars of unpaid subscriptions and advertising have accumulated on our books during the last five years. This is a load we cannot carry any longer. Will our friends assist us in lightening it, or must we summon to our ai that vexatious and detestable instrumentality, The Law?

CARRIER'S ADDRESS to the patrons of the GAZETTE, Jan. 1, 1870.

Oh! thou, whatever name thou bearest,
Whate'er the creed by which thou swearest,
Or what the lot in life thou sharest,
Be't good or evil,
Who but a shilling's value carest,
For me, poor "devil;"

To thee be health and peace and pleasure,
And all the joys that mortals treasure,
Sans calculation and sans measure,
This New Year's morning;
(And if thou be a loafer, leisure
For years of yawning!)

Whate'er thy nature's predilection,
If but an honest man's inspection
Discovers therein no defection,
God gratify it!
And may it be thy heart's election
To do well by it.

If in thy bosom holy wishes
Supplant, with thoughts and hopes delicious,
The lust of earthly "loaves and fishes,"
And banish evil,
Be fiends that tempt no more malicious,
Than "Printer's Devil!"

If towards the world thine inclination,
If Gold's attraction, Fame's elation,
Or Pride's eternal, fell vexation,
Do onward lure thee,
Mayst thou have thy worst "condemnation"
From Sheriff's Jury.

If Beauty's forms to thee are charming,
If "women's looks" do prove alarming,
So that a certain bachelor's arm in,
Thy heart is pining,
To place some crinoline and carmine,
(The two combining
What constitutes thy beauteous lady;)
Don't, like Adonis, keep too "shady,"
Nor yet forget that Cupid's ready
For thy undoing;
Watch "Number One," with eyesight steady,
When gone a-wooing.

If rural sights and sounds delight thee,
So that the woods and fields invite thee
Where thorns do prick and "varmints" bite thee,
Refrain from swearing,
But give thy love for Nature mighty,
A wholesome airing.

'Twill do you good God's works to ponder;
Of trees and rocks and hills to wonder;
To listen to the cataract's thunder;
And gaze admiring,
On all that meets you as you wander
With feet untiring.

If politics possess attraction
To draw thee to that sphere of action,
Where envious faction wars with faction,
Be thine the party
That aims to bind each jarring section
In Union hearty.

But if by lanthorn darkly litten,
Or if by love of office smitten,
Thy name, perchance, thou hast down written
With that foul party.
The constitution the bottomless pit in,
With curses hearty,

Doth strive to hurl, with all its power,
I pity thee, unhappy giaour!
Oh! soon may come the glorious hour,
When thou no longer
Shalt 'neath the lash of leaders cower,
Or office-monger.

But thou, whate'er thy occupation,
Thy feelings, wishes, earthly station,
To whom shall come this visitation
Of "one-horse" rhyming,
May New Year bells for thee occasion
A merry chiming!
THE CARRIER.

G. R. OSTER & Co. have just received an immense stock of new Winter Goods, and there is but little use of our telling you, for most Ladies have already decided and bought their Cheap Goods, and are pleased to find a store full of Bargains. dec9m1.

Mothers should remember that the limbs of children require as much clothing as any part of the body in all seasons, and especially during winter. A distinguished French physician, just deceased, remarked only a short time ago, that during his twenty-six years of practice in Paris, twenty thousand children had been borne to the cemeteries a sacrifice to the absurb costume of naked arms. Dr. Warren thinks that Boston sacrifices five hundred babies every year by not clothing their limbs. The arms should be covered, from the wrist to the shoulder, with thick knit woolen sleeves.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT.—For Ladies, Gents, Misses, Boys, Youths, and Childrens superior Custom-made Boots and Shoes, go to G. R. Oster & Co. They have just received a large and varied assortment at reduced prices. dec9m1.

Ayer's American Almanac, for the new year, has arrived for delivery gratis by B. F. Harry to all who call for it. This annual has the largest circulation of any book in the world, made by the fact that it furnishes the best medical advice which is available to the people—enables them to determine what their complaints are and how to cure them. It contains the startling announcement of the conflagration of a world, or the combustion of one of the stars in the firmament with all its attendant planets.

Another weather prophet has arisen, who for a time is destinedto be depended upon to a degree. He says that when the winds are southwesterly during the autumnal equinox, an "open winter" is sure to succeed, and throughout last summer and fall the wind was from the southwest two-thirds of the time. Accordingly we will have a mild winter and skaters need not expect to have many days wherein they can enjoy their pleasurable but rather unprofitable sport.

Our friend, J. H. Hutton, of the firm of A. A. Shumway & Co., wholesale dealers in Boots and Shoes, requests us to say to his friends in the county, that they have removed to 434 Market st. South Side, in Rooms lately occupied by Morgan, Bush & Co., where they have greatly increased their stock and are ready and will be happy to fill all orders, which will be done in a satisfactory manner.

The printing office of the Fulton Democrat, with the dwelling of James Potts, Esq., at M'Connellsburg, was totally destroyed by fire, on the 23d ult. There was insurance on the printing office to the amount of $1,000, but Mr. Pott, having no insurance, we are sorry to say, suffers a total loss. Mr. P. and his family narrowly escaped from the burning building with their lives.

If we may judge of it by its weather, the New Year, so far, is not a success. The second day was worse than the first. A more dismal day than last Sunday can hardly be imagined. The rain fell in a monotonous torrent, and after the sunset hour the wind blew up into a hurricane.

AN ESTABLISHED REMEDY.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are widely known as an established remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs. Their good reputation and extensive use has brought out imitations, represented to be the same. Obtain only "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

Buy your Hats and Caps of G. R. Oster & Co. They have just received an immense assortment of the latest styles, from 60 cents up. dec9m1.

Under a distinguished professor, and with the best Chickering pianos, the pupils of the Hollidaysburg Seminary enjoy special advantages in music.

Now that the holidays are at hand, go to G. R. Oster & Co. where you will find a store full of useful articles for gifts. dec9m1.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE ONLY RELIABLE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA IN THE KNOWN WORLD.
Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and Pine Tree Tar Cordial are a positive and infallable cure for Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and no matter of how long standing.
They penetrate the secret abode of this terrible disease, and exterminate to it, root and branch, forever.
They alleviate more agony and silent suffering than tongue can tell.
They are noted for curing the most desperate and hopeless cases, when every known means fail to afford relief.
No form of Dyspepsia or Indijestion can resist their penetrating power,
DR. WISHART'S
PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL.
It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medical properties are retained. It invigorates the digestive organs and restores the appetite. It strengthens the debilitated system. It purifies and enriches the blood, and expels from the system the corruption which scrofula breeds on the lungs. It dissolves the mucus or phlegm which stops the air passages of the lungs Its healing principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain and subduing inflammation. It is the result of years of study and experiment, and it is offered to the afflicted with positive assurance of its power to cure the following diseases if the patient has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure:
Consumption of the Lungs, Cough, Sore Throat and Breast, Bronchitis, Liver Complaint, Blind and Bleeding Piles, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Diptheria, &c.
A medical expert, holding honorable collegiate diplomas, devotes his entire time to the examination of patients at the office parlors. Associated with him are three consulting physicians of acknowledged eminence, whose services are given to the public free of charge.
This opportunity is offered by no other institution in the country.
Letters from any part of the country, asking advice, will be promptly and gratuitously responded to. Where convenient, remittances should take the shape of

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometime subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.
AYER'S AGUE CURE,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Billious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.
As its name implies it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed
Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or traveling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.
For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.
For Billious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines bad failed.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup,
Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work: then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.
To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.
To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood
Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall-bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and starts the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.
Liver Complaint is one of the most prominent causes of Consumption.
Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the Alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.
The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.
Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills, or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Cousumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Cataarh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.
If a person has Consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood: then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.
When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless
Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless the patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.
Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published in a Sealed Envelope. Price six cents. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility and Impediments to Marriage generally. Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsey and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c. By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordicals, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself, cheaply, privately and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers.

TESTIMONIALS.

The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best.—N. Y. Evangelist.

We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.

The Waters' Pianos are built of the very best and most thoroughly seasoned material.—Advocate and Journal.

Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Pianos, Melodeons and Organs to be found in the United States.—Graham's Magazine.

MUSICAL DOINGS.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodeons. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming advertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith were ever thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianofortes now in our residence (where it has stood for many years,) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur player in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument. Stronger endorsement we could not give.—Home Journal.

1870 "THE WORLD." 1870

The ability of THE WORLD is beyond question—Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel

We regard it the ablest Democratic newspaper in the nation—St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald.

The New York WORLD the ablest Democratic journal in the United States.—Cincinnati Times.

The leading Democratic journal in the country, and as able as it is eminent, the New York WORLD.—Boston Traveler.

The New York WORLD, the best edited paper on the continent. is wonderfully fertile in good things.—Raleigh Sentinel.

The New York WORLD, the ablest, most influential, and most widely circulated Democratic newspaper in the country.—Syracuse Journal.

THE NEW YORK WORLD.—The WORLD is now beyond question the best newspaper published in New York City.—Courier, East Saginaw, Mich- Sept., 25, 1869.

We always read The WORLD with hearty admiration of its superior ability, often with warm appreciation of its eloquently uttered sentiments.—Worcester Evening Gazette.

Those who want a Democratic paper will find THE WORLD, on the whole, the smartest, most entertaining, and complete newspaper on that side of the house.—Chroical, Penn Yan, N. Y.

THE WEEKLY WORLD,

a large quarto sheet, printed throughout in large type and published every Wednesday morning, has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper in the United States, with possibly, a single exception. Among its prominent features are:

1. Its very full and accurate market reports, embracing the Live Stock markets of New York, Albany, Cambridge, and Philadelphia; and New York Country Produce Market, and General Produce Markets of the country; and full reports of the New York Money Market. Each of the reports are complied with great care, and contain the latest quotations that can be obtained up to the time of putting the paper to press.
2. Its Agricultural Department, which contains each week articles on practical and scientific farming that are of great value to American farmers. A special feature of this department is a weekly summary of the condition of the Hop Markets at home and abroad.
3. A very full report of the proceedings of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute is printed in each issue of the Weekly World, the day after the meeting of the Club. By this arrangement the report appears in the Weekly World one week in advance of its publication in any other weekly paper.
4. A portion of the Weekly World is reserved for family reading matter, including original and selected stories, poems, waifs of humor, and extracts from books and periodicals.— Particular attention will be given to this department during the year 1870.
5. A special feature of the Weekly World is a carefully complied summary of the news of each week. It is made so complete that no one who reads it can fail of being well posted on all the important news of the day.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD,

published Tuesday and Friday, is a large quarto sheet, containing all the news published in the Daily World, with the exception of such local reports as may be of no interest to non-residents of New York City. Its market reports are as full as those of the Daily edition, and it contain, besides interesting literary matter, on Friday of each week a full report of the Farmers' Club.

THE DAILY WORLD

contains all the news of the day that can be obtained by mail and telegraph from all parts of the world, and the thorough discussions of all topics of interest.

THE WORLD ALMANAC FOR 1870.

"THE WORLD ALMANAC" for 1870 will contain a vast quantity of political information of use to every voter, and of such a character as can be obtained in no other publication. In it will be printed full official returns of every election held in 1869; the vote of New York State by election districts, and Connecticut by towns; the names and dates of each candidate for each branch of the New York Legislature: list of members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives; obituary record and list of important events during the past year. As a compact political manual it will have no equal.

OUR NEW FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

The superior merits of the "Singer" Machines over all others, for either Family use or Manufacturing purposes, are so well established and so generally admitted, that an enumeration of their relative excellences is no longer considered necessary.

OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE,

which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor, or expense, is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the Best Sewing Machine in existence. The machine in question is Simple, Compact, Durable and Beautiful. It is quiet, light running, and never before attempted upon a single Machine,— using either SILK, TWIST, LINEN OR COTTON THREAD, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the Unique, Useful, and Popular Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases, peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company, have been prepared for enclosing the new Machine.

A faint idea, however, can at best be conveyed through the medium of a (necessarily) limited advertisement; and we therefore urge every person in quest of a Sewing Machine, by all means to examine and test, if they can possibly do so, all the leading rival Machines before making a purchase. A selection can then be made understandingly. Branches or agencies for supplying the "Singer" Machines will be found in nearly every city and town throughout the civilized world, where Machines will be cheerfully exhibited, and any information promptly furnished. MIDDLETON'S

WONDERFUL PAIN CUREs

A sure remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Growing Pains, Sprains, Bruises, Stiffnes, of the Joints and all similar diseases.

This wonderful remedy is composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. There are no injurious substances used in its manufacture.

For assurance of its excellent properties, read the following certificates:

BEDFORD, May 8, 1869.

I take great pleasure in giving my testimony to the value of "Middleton's Wonderful Pain Cure." I have been a martyr to Rheumatism. For two months previous to Feb. 25th, last, I was suffering intensely with pain so severe, that during all that time I had not one night of comfortable sleep. I could not put my hands to my face, could not comb my own hair, nor feed myself; but after having the Pain Cure applied once, I found relief enough to give me comfortable sleep, and with its steady use, I continued to get better, and now at the end of ten weeks from its first application, I have comparatively free use of my hands, sleep well and can attend to business. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used put together, and I cheerfully give this certificate of its value.

ELI M. FISHER.

BEDFORD, April 14, 1869.

Mr. W. W. Middleton,

This is to certify that I was taken with Rheumatism, in my right shoulder, on the evening of the 8th inst., so that I was unable to raise my hand to my face. I got some of your Pain Cure and applied it twice, and was entirely relieved. I would recommend to every one who suffers with Rheumatism to give it a trial and be cured.

Yours &c., A. F. MILLER.

BEDFORD, May 17, 1869.

Mr. Middleton,

DEAR SIR:—I have used several bottles of your medicine in my family, and find it to be all you claim for it. Yours, truly,

JOHN HAFER.

BEDFORD, May 13, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used "Middleton's Pain Cure," for Rheumatism, and was very much benefited by it. JOHN HARRIS.

BEDFORD, May 18, 1869

This is to certify that I have used Middleton's Liniment, for the Rheumatism which I had in my right shoulder so bad that I could not get my hand to my head without great pain, and after a few applications was entirely relieved.

L. F. DART.

BEDFORD, May 1, 1869.

Mr Middleton,

Dear Sir:— Mrs. Bowser was in much suffering for some four weeks with Rheumatism, and got some of your Pain Cure, and the first night I applied it it eased the pain; and after keeping on using it for two weeks, she was restored to health. I feel it to be my duty, as it is a pleasure, to write this recommendation for the benefit of others. JACOB BOWSER

BEDFORD, May 16. 1869.

Mr W. W. Middleton:

Sir—I procured a bottle of your Liniment for Rheumatism, and it gives me great pleasure in saying that after using it for two days, my rheumatism was completely relieved My sister was suffering, at the same time, with Inflamatory Rheumatism in her right hand and wrist—after using it for several days she was relieved. I consider it the best remedy I ever heard of.

JOHN KEEFE

BEDFORD, May 24, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used one bottle of Middleton's Liniment for Rheumatism, and think it a good cure, and would recommend it to all persons that are afflicted with the above disease.

AUGUSTUS CARVER.

BEDFORD, May 26, 1869.

Mr. Middleton:

Sir—I procured one bottle of your medicine and used one-half of it for Rheumatism, which effected a permanent cure up to this time. I cannot hesitate in saying that it is the best remedy I ever used. A. B. CARN.

This excellent PAIN CURE is prepared only by W. W. MIDDLETON, Bedford, Pa, to whom all orders for the medicine should be addressed.
